Biography and Criticism

4533. MS. in English, on water-marked paper : written in the late 17th or early 18th cent. : $5\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{1}{2}$ in., xii+98 leaves : in modern red morocco binding.

The additions and variant readings of the authorized version of Religio Medici, copied from 'Sir Tho^s. own edition, printed in 1660' (fol. 10), i. e. no. 4426; beg. (fol. 2) 'To the Reader. Certainly that man'; ends (fol. 97^v) 'I think,'.

The 159-page surreptitious issue of 1642, no. 4418, was apparently the edition collated, and the purpose that of completing the owner's copy.

Leaves i-xii (modern), 1 and 98 are blank.

To the Reader.

Certainly that man were greedy of life, who sh^d. desire to live when all the world were at an end; he must needs be very impatient, who does repine at death in the society of all things that suffer under it. Had not almost every man suffer'd by the press, or were not the tyranny thereof become universal; I had not wanted reason for complaint, but in times wherein I have liv'd to behold the highest per-version of that excellent inven-tion, the name of his Majesty defam'd, the honour of Par-liament depriv'd, the writings of both depravedly anticipatively, counterfeitedly imprinted; complaints may seem ridiculous in private persons and men of my condition may be as incapable of affronts, as hopeless of y. reparations. And truly had not the duty I owe to the importunity of friends, and the allegiance I must ever acknowledge unto truth, prevailed with me, the inactivity of my disposition might have made these sufferings continual, & times that bring 3 other things to light, should have satisfied me in the of its oblivion. But because things evidently false are not only printed, but many things of truth most falsely set forth; in this latter I could not but think my self engag'd: for though we have no power to redress of former in the other, reparation being within our selves, I have at present represented unto the world a full, intended copy of that piece, which was most imperfectly, and surreptitiously published before.

This, I confess, about seven years ago, with some others of affinity thereto, for my private exercise, & satisfaction, I had at leasurab^{le} hours, composed which, being communicated unto one, it became common unto many, and was, by transcription, successively corrupted, until it arriv'd, in a most deprav'd copie, at the press. He that sh^{all} peruse that work, & shall take notice of sundry particularities, and personal expressions therein, will easily discern the intention, as not publick: and, being private exercises directed to my self, What is deliver'd therein was rather a memorial unto me, than an example, or rule unto any other: and therefore, if there be any Similarity therein corresponding unto the private conception of any man, it doth not advantage them; or, if dissentaneous thereunto, it no way overthrowes them.

It was pen'd in such a place, & with such advantage that (I protest) from the first setting of pen to paper

I had not the assistance of any good book, whereby to promote my invention, or relieve my memory; therefore there might be many real lapses therein; which others might take notice of, & more that I suspected my self.

It was set down many years past, & was the sense of my conceptions, at that time not an immutable law unto my advancing judgement at all times, and therefore there might be many things therein plausible unto my past apprehension, which are not agreeable unto my Present Self. Therefore are many things deliver'd rhetorically, many expressions therein merely tropicall, & as they best illustrate my intentions; & therefore, also, there are many things to be taken in a soft, & flexible sense, & not to be call'd unto the rigid test of reason. Lastly, all that is contain'd therein is in submission unto mature discernments, and, as I have declar'd, shall no further father them.

than the best & learned judgments shall authorize them; under favor of the considerations I have made its Secrecy publick, and committed the truth thereof to every ingenuous reader.

a Letter Sent, by J^s G^o Browne upon the information of Animadversions to come forth upon this imperfect, & surrep-titious Copy of His Religio Medicæ, To S^r Henry Digby Honourable S^r

Gives your Servant, who hath ever honour'd you, leave to take notice of a book, at press in the press, intituled (as I am inform'd) Animadversion upon a treatise lately printed under the name of Religio Medicæ; hereof, I am advertis'd, you have descended to be the Author.

Worthy S^r, I permit your Servant to affirm there is contain'd therein nothing that can deserve the notice of you.

contradictions, much less the candor of your animadversions, and to certify the truth thereof, that book (whereof I do acknowledge my self the author) was pen'd many years past, and (what cannot escape your apprehension) with no intention for the press, or the least desire to oblige the faith of any man to its assertions: but what has more especially ^{embolden'd} my pen unto you at present, is, that the same piece contin'd in my private study, & as an exercise unto my self, rather than exercitation for any other, having just from my hand under a broken, & imperfect copy, by frequent transcriptions it Still ran forward in corruption, & after the addition of some things, omission of others, and transposition of many, without my assent, or privacy, & liberty of these times committed it unto the press, from whence it iss'd so disguis'd, the author, without distinction, could not acknowledge it.

Having thus miscarried, within a few weeks I shall, God willing, deliver unto the press the true, & intended original (whereof, in the mean time, your worthy Self may command a view.) otherwise, when ever that copy shall be extant, it will most clearly appear how far the text hath been mistaken; & observations, glosses, or excursions thereon will, in a great part, impregnate Printing, or Transcribing, rather than the Author. If after that you shall esteem it worth your vacant hours to discourse thereon, you shall but take that liberty which I assume my self, that is, freely to abound in your senses, as I have done in my own. However you shall determine, you shall sufficiently honour me in the vouchsafe of your refutation.

I oblige the whole world in the occasion of your pen.

The vulgarity of those judgments that wrap the church of God in Strabo's cloak, & restrain it unto Europe, seem to me as bad geographers as Alexander, who thought he had conquer'd all the world, when he had not subdued the help of any part thereof; for we cannot deny the church of God both in Asia, and Africa, if we do not forget the peregrinations of the apostles, the deaths of their martyrs, the sessions of many, & even, in our reformed judgments, large Councils held in those parts, held in the minority, & homage of our: nor must a few differences, more remarkable in the eyes of man than, perhaps, in the judgment of God, excommunicate from heaven one another, much less those who are, in a manner, all Martyrs, maintaining their faith in the noble way of persecution, & serving God in the fire, when — and we honor him but in the dark-shine.

Yet true, we all hold there is a number of elect, & many to be saved, yet take our opening together, Dec 17. 104 my grave be England, my lying place was Paradise, thing as Salvation, nor shall any one be saved; for first, The church of Rome the doctrine of our church, as damnable: The atomist, or Familist, reprobates all these, & all these them again.

Thus whilst the mercies

Exclude us from the place. there must be, therefore, more than one St. Peter, particular churches, & Sects using the gates of heaven, turn the key against each other, & thus we go to hea-wills, conceits, & opinions; & with as much uncharity as ignorance do err, I fear, in points, not only, of our own, but of one another's Salvation.
